SUPPORT TO HQ SACT
DPMS Development Support – Web Developer
STATEMENT OF WORK
12 February 2018

Background

1. Due to the nature of NATO Defence Planning Process (NDPP), many of its products have to be developed simultaneously and within short timeframes. However, because of the dispersed nature of the teams there is a risk that several products follow separate paths, possibly rendering incompatible results. That makes coordination activities important. These efforts are hampered by the lack of appropriate tools to provide a common picture of all activities related to the NDPP.
2. As the NDPP cycle lasts around four years, it is very unusual that military personnel can participate in more than one NDPP cycle, which makes activities to preserve corporate memory very important. Also, it is difficult to capture corporate knowledge in formal documents, with the consequence, sometimes, that the same errors will be repeated.
3. Following the Defence Ministers' Meeting in February 2013, the Strategic Commanders (SC) were tasked to determine the broad features of a new or renovated analytical tool to support the Capability Requirements Review (CRR) process (NDPP Step 2). Discussions among the NDPP Stakeholders indicated that a single tool integrating all management and analytical services required to cover all five NDPP steps (with a common Database).
4. ACT is developing a Defence Planning Management System (DPMS) Demonstrator. The demonstrator will be used to elicit the detailed User Requirements (UR) and demonstrate the benefits and the feasibility for the development of a tool that will be able to support all five NDPP Steps while being accessible by all stakeholders. ACT is developing DPMS as an application of the Capability Development Support System (CDSS) used to support more of ACT's processes, thus exploiting opportunities for greater interoperability between tools, processes and users, and savings of the developments efforts required.

Scope of Work

5. In the context of above paragraphs 1 to 4, HQ SACT seeks a Contractor to support the development (including coding) for parts of the DPMS Demonstrator supporting the full spectrum of efforts to identify, clarify and verify user requirements. The full development of the DPMS Demonstrator will not be among the responsibilities of the Contractor. The DPMS Demonstrator will be a foundational but operational tool, capable to facilitate the development of various NATO Defence Planning products; it will enable the identification of new and refinement of existing relevant requirements, aiming to be evolved in a tool able to support the entire NDPP, cradle to grave.

▪ Tasking

6. The Contractor will develop CDSS / DPMS code and will contribute to technical services as follows:
 - a. Develop CDSS / DPMS web applications (client / server) using Java Server Faces (JSF) 2.2 / 2.3 and Java 8 / 9
 - b. Develop user interfaces for the CDSS / DPMS web applications using Facelets and Primefaces 6.1 / 6.2
 - c. Analytically describe the functioning of the developed code in common language (MS Word document, in English)
7. The contractor, in preparing for and executing these tasks, shall liaise closely with the Project Manager (TSC FPM-0210) and the Software Architect (TSC FPM-0220).
